

CAMERA USING A LIGHT GUN TO PROVIDE A PHOTOGRAPHIC POSITION

Abstract

A camera includes a lens for capturing an image in an image area, a light gun for projecting a light spot at the edge of the image area, and a light gun switch for selectively turning on the light gun in order to project the light spot. Wherein, when the light spot is projected, a person having their picture taken can see the edge of the image area.